

I'm Getting a New Little Brother or Sister!

- A Guess what?
- B What?
- A My mom and dad are having a new baby!
- B Hey, that's great! Are you excited?
- A Of course! I'm gonna have a new little brother or sister, and I can teach them and help them with all kinds of stuff!
- B Okay, good, because I saw on TV that a lot of kids feel kinda weird.
- A Weird about what?
- B I don't know. I think they start getting all jealous or something when their parents bring home a new baby.
- A Yeah, but that's probably just rude, mean kids that don't understand anything about anything.
- B I guess so.
- A Mean kids get mad about all kinds of stupid stuff.
- B You're probably right.
- A Yeah. It's big, happy news for my whole family. Everything about it is good.
- B Definitely.
- A Too many people think about bad stuff all day long. We gotta focus on all the good stuff.

- B Sounds like you've got the right attitude.
- A Thanks a lot.
- B Your new little brother or sister is gonna be a pretty lucky kid.
- A Yeah, but you're just saying that because it's true.
- B It is true!
